

Projects Keep Chapter Busy

Three major philanthropies are major beneficiaries of the efforts of members of the Torrance Court St. Catherine, Catholic Daughters of America.

Maintenance of Camp Teresita Pines, a summer camp for girls at Wrightwood, is one of the projects and is shared by all California CDA chapters.

The local chapter supports the camp through its annual fashion show in September. It collects funds for building and for camperships to be awarded some of the 225 girls accommodated at the camp.

SECOND PROJECT

A second philanthropy is maintained by the World Mission group, which sews layettes and altar linens for foreign and Indian mission work.

The group, which meets weekly to work on projects, is presently sending goods to Herbert Sorenson, M.D., doctor working in Africa.

The third philanthropic project is conducted by the Harbor Hospital party group. This group, under the social welfare chairmanship, gives parties at the hospital wards, serving food and giving presents.

Several women of the organization have joined to form a sub-group called the study club. The group, headed by Mrs. Paul McDonald, studies various topics of national, state and community prominence.

The study club, which just finished a project on communism, is now studying religions. It meets twice a month and studies tape recordings from top speakers in the field of study and publishes its findings.

Social activities of the chapter are held the third Thursday of each month; business meetings are held the first Thursday.

Activities include a fashion show, card party, Christmas party, Valentine's event, pot luck dinners, and luaus. Officers of the chapter, which has 135 members, include Mmes Robert Klaesges, grand regent; Harvey Lee, vice regent; Lloyd Landerville, prophetess; and Andrew Rabel, financial secretary.

Trustees include Mmes. Joseph Cemore, Gordon Hicks, Donald Bryant, Blake Weststead, Louis Derouin and Richard Ban.

The chapter has scheduled its initiation for November. To become a member, a woman must be a practicing Catholic. Information about the organization can be obtained from Mrs. Klaesges, FAirfax 8-5859.

Other officers are Mmes. Robert O'Brien, treasurer; Ralph Sullivan, historian; Gordon Cady, monitor; Harry Hamilton, lecturer; George Rausch, sentinel; and Charles Butterfield, organist.

Church Leaders Comment On Supreme Court Ruling

Methodist leaders across the nation have commented in sermons and special statements on the Supreme Court's recent ruling which bars use of a non-sectarian prayer in New York State public schools.

Bishop Gerald Kennedy could not see why all the furor. "Committed as the court seems to be to a strict interpretation of our doctrine of separation of church and state, the decision hardly is a surprise. I do not believe the consequences of the decision are as serious as some would make us believe.

"I cannot remember hearing a prayer offered in any public school I ever attended. At the same time the decision creates the false impression that America is essentially unreligious. An undenominational prayer in our public schools is quite in keeping with this country's policy which proclaims every time we salute the flag we are a nation 'under God,'" he said.

Dr. Grover Bagby, head of the Conference Board of Education, viewed the decision as a positive contribution to religious freedom and religious welfare.

KEY POINT
The key point, said Dr. Bagby, is that one governmental body devised a prayer to be used by another governmental body; an activity potentially destructive of all religious liberties. He pointed out that the simple 22-word prayer is not specifically Protestant or Roman Catholic, Christian or Jewish. "It is not specifically anything more than a brief general statement of dependence upon God.

"A government that presumes to prescribe prayers of general religion is also likely one day to conclude that it can prescribe prayers of some specific religion. "Those who are crying the loudest now against the court's insistence that the government remain neutral on religion would be first to condemn the government if it ever championed a religious view contrary to their own."

TAKE ISSUE
Dr. Bagby also took issue with those who assert that the founding fathers in establishing freedom of religion never meant freedom from religion.

"The fact of the matter is, there can never be one without the other. Religious faith by its very nature is voluntary. Much as unbelief is to be deplored from a religious point of view, freedom to believe cannot really exist except as it is accompanied by freedom to disbelieve."

Other Methodists held opposite opinions. Dr. J. Richard Sneed, First Church of Los Angeles, declared: "Karl Marx is now 'No. 2 Revolutionary.' The philosophy behind the U. S. Supreme Court decision will produce a far more revolutionary concept of society, in the name of law, than Marx ever exercised as a theorist. With the Deity constitutionally incapacitated, only materialism, secularism and atheism can publicly prevail."

Dr. Frank E. Butterworth, First Church, Pasadena, said that for thousands of American children "who do not come from God-fearing homes, there will be no recognition of any authority higher than the state. Both Fascist and Communist dictators rose to power on this assumption of state supremacy. It is now clearly our responsibility as Christians and as loyal Americans to work tirelessly to amend our Constitution."
